The scale of this map leads you to believe that you can find your way around back roads. Not true. This is the kind of map that calls out individual buildings leading you to believe you will know when you are approaching the maze of Italian streets that are everywhere, even in "new" parts of town. It's just not accurate. Some cities, Gela for example go on for 10 kilometers that are not called out on this map. Even more befuddling is the lack of road numbers on the map. Many major roads have no number attached. My advice. Don't go to Sicily without a GPS or some navigation device. The price of this map is not worth it. Period.

Sicily is just plain difficult to drive in!!! Even with a GPS used in conjunction with this map, we got lost many times. The GPS does not designate between a goat path and a well paved highway. This map helps, but one needs a magnifying glass as well.

Very useful and with enough detail to Allow for easy and successful travel across the island.

we used the map while driving in sicily it was very useful for us. it could of had a little more detail

I have been to Sicily...so I wanted a more updated map; this map shows everthing that is needed to get around the island.

The best maps made! Always accurate with every road - even small ones.

Great detailed well constructed map.
