

The book was found

Teaching History To Adolescents: A Quest For Relevance (Adolescent Cultures, School, And Society)

Synopsis

This book has received the AESA (American Educational Studies Association) Critics Choice Award 2012. Teaching History to Adolescents: A Quest for Relevance is an exploration of research, ideas, trends, and practices for educators who teach American history to adolescents from the middle grades through high school. Higher education faculty in history and professional education will also find the book germane to their work. Topics within the field of teaching history to adolescents include the use and misuse of history textbooks, implementing primary sources into lessons, subject matter selection, professional development, technology, and the issues of diversity and assessment as directly related to history. The book includes "The World of Practice" sections – contributions from practitioners on topics such as teaching history with comic books, student engagement with public history, using young adult non-fiction books, and the role of controversial topics in the history classroom.

Book Information

Series: Adolescent Cultures, School, and Society (Book 52)

Paperback: 266 pages

Publisher: Peter Lang Inc., International Academic Publishers; First printing edition (February 16, 2011)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 1433110954

ISBN-13: 978-1433110955

Product Dimensions: 0.5 x 5.8 x 8.8 inches

Shipping Weight: 10.4 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: Be the first to review this item

Best Sellers Rank: #381,030 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #185 in Books > History > Historical Study & Educational Resources > Study & Teaching #300 in Books > Education & Teaching > Schools & Teaching > Education Theory > Experimental Methods #327 in Books > Education & Teaching > Higher & Continuing Education > Adult & Continuing Education

Customer Reviews

"John A. Beineke's work brings the broad spectrum of history education and methodology into the light of relevance. His research, comprehensive and current, offers questions and answers to the issues of conveying history with meaning to the next generation. Every teacher reaches a point of self-examination, a plateau, and this work presents the teacher with the evidence to reach for a more effective level of instruction in the all too important work of preparing adolescents to make sense of history in their daily lives. » (Rich Wetmore, U.S. History Teacher, Marina Village Middle School, El Dorado Hills, California) «John A. Beineke's book, while geared toward middle school history teachers, is a tour de force of the changing nature of the discipline of history as a whole. His practical advice is far-ranging and provides a treasure trove of ideas. Teachers from elementary to college classrooms will learn techniques to make the best use of historical sources, from political cartoons and comic books to utilizing public history venues. Beineke's book captures the theory behind the innovations and provides multiple examples to engage students. » (Linda K. Pritchard, Professor of History and Department Head, Women's and Gender Studies, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, Michigan) «If adolescents could turn the tables on their history teachers and assign texts for their teachers to read, John A. Beineke's superb text would anchor the syllabus. This is a book about teaching history in ways that engage young people in meaningful and purposeful thinking about the past and their own lives. It is a book by a true teacher and a scholar of history teaching that contends with both the essential concepts at the core of the field while providing pragmatic and indispensable tools for the classroom – from using primary source documents to integrating media technology. It is book to be read, studied, discussed, and then thumbed through again and again and again. » (Sam M. Intrator, Professor of Education and Child Study and Urban Studies, Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts)

John A. Beineke is Distinguished Professor of Educational Leadership and Curriculum and Professor of History at Arkansas State University. He has been a public school teacher, university administrator, and program director in leadership, youth, and higher education at the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. Beineke received his doctorate in social science education and a masters degree in history from Ball State University, and a bachelors degree in social studies education from Indiana Wesleyan University. He is the author of And There Were Giants in the Land: The Life of William Heard Kilpatrick (Peter Lang), a young adult book, Going Over All the Hurdles: A Life of Oatess Archey, and numerous chapters and articles on curriculum, educational policy, and the history of education.

Download to continue reading...

Teaching History to Adolescents: A Quest for Relevance (Adolescent Cultures, School, and Society)
 Neinstein's Adolescent and Young Adult Health Care: A Practical Guide (Adolescent Health Care a Practical Guide)
 Treating Somatic Symptoms in Children and Adolescents (Guilford

Child and Adolescent Practitioner Series) Infants, Children, and Adolescents (8th Edition) (Berk & Meyers, The Infants, Children, and Adolescents Series, 8th Edition) An Age of Extremes Middle/High School Teaching Guide, A History of US: Teaching Guide pairs with A History of US Book 8 War Terrible War Middle/High School Teaching Guide, A History of US: Teaching Guide pairs with A History of US: Book Six Reconstructing America Middle/High School Teaching Guide, A History of US: Teaching Guide pairs with A History of US: Book Seven Women and Jewish Law: The Essential Texts, Their History, and Their Relevance for Today Westward Bound: Sex, Violence, the Law, and the Making of a Settler Society (Law and Society Series Published in association with the Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History) World History, Ancient History, Asian History, United States History, European History, Russian History, Indian History, African History. (world history) Best Practices in Adolescent Literacy Instruction, Second Edition (Solving Problems in the Teaching of Literacy) Teaching Adolescent Writers Teaching Children and Adolescents Physical Education 4th Edition With Web Resource Teaching Poetry Writing to Adolescents Teaching Literature to Adolescents Understanding and Teaching U.S. Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender History (The Harvey Goldberg Series for Understanding and Teaching History) Shaping the Future of Business Education: Relevance, Rigor, and Life Preparation Invitation to Biblical Preaching: Proclaiming Truth with Clarity and Relevance (Invitation to Theological Studies Series) Histopathology of Preclinical Toxicity Studies, Fourth Edition: Interpretation and Relevance in Drug Safety Evaluation Blood Cells: Morphology and Clinical Relevance

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help