Susan Andra Lion's inspired drawings and writing touch the magical side of life. Using original poetry with ink and pencil, they speak of gentleness, hope, and the tender touch of Mother Earth. Her children's books show her belief that art is a great educational tool for bringing forward our connection to the Earth and its many creatures. The illustrations are fun, engaging, detailed, and uniquely designed. Sue also has a special connection to animals, believing as the Ancients do that all animals bring pertinent messages to us. We are asked to just pay attention and include all life into our lives.

Nice coloring pages. Very intricate and probably not for a beginner.

My granddaughter and I love to color and this is one of our favorite books.

Nice book.

I love the pictures and the story

What a beautiful accompaniment to the awarded book How The Trees Got Their Voices! Each page offers detailed hand drawings to fill with the colors of your choice as well as thoughtful messages on the back of each page. With the high quality paper, your (or your child's) masterpiece can be saved or framed for years to come. This is one very special coloring book. Perfect to give as a gift along with a high quality set of colored pencils and the storybook!

I love this book! It is whimsical and cute. The artwork is lovely and I just love the idea of the trees and animals communicating. This isn't a very detailed book, but I am enjoying none the less. The paper quality is excellent! The covers are hard backed.
