Good information

These recipes all sound great, and I would really like to try them out. As a Sleeved person however, I won't be able to do so for two reasons: first there are no nutritionals and second, there is no information regarding number of portions each recipe makes.. Given that, I can't address either of the two things that are most important to me and all people that have had Gastric Sleeves or other Bariatric procedures, portion size or volume of food intake, and protein and carbohydrate content.
